APOSTOLOS CHANTZARAS

(b. Agrinio, Greece, 1977)

Apostolos Chantzaras, continues to develop his own visual and entertaining world, without fear for bold line, form and saturated colour. Greek-born Chantzaras first studied Painting under Chronis Botsoglou at the Athens School of Fine Arts, and then continued studies in Photography and Fresco. He was nominated for the IKY scholarship in 2000-2003, and studied Painting at the Université Paris VIII (2004-2005). Influences of working beside his father, Eleftherios Chantzaras, a renown Byzantine painter and iconographer, is also quite relevant in his style and technique.

His extraordinary means of expression reveal influences from the shadow puppet show, combining a rich legacy of symbols related to Greece and that part of the world - The sun, the cross, the fish, the church, the simple islanders, all come together in a unique, perceptible artistic amalgam.

Chantzaras' lyrical work has been featured on the cover of several published novels including: "Olga or Nothing" by Lito Pitiris, Kedros Publishing (2013), "Imaginary Adventure" by Alexandros Kotzias, Kedros Publishing (2012), and "Glass Industry" by Menis Koumantareas, published by Vima Newspaper (2011). ARTIST STATEMENT

"The Psychi (Soul)" series

The figures that adorn Apostolos Chantzaras' art are somehow familiar. We have come across precursory forms of his figures in well known ancient Greek artworks that decorate museums all around the world.

From the motif of the Butterfly which, for the Greeks, symbolizes eternally the soul (psyche), the sense of the nonperishable and the human spirit beyond death, from antiquity to contemporary folk doctrines, to the Sirens, known from the Odyssey for their seductive voice, whose name we still use today to declare the seduction that keeps its secret dangers hidden; They are all transformed through Chantzaras' paintbrush into a (style of) contemporary pop - and therefore comprehensive and legible from the western world- version of ancient symbols.
